

Getting Started With Your EAP

What to expect when you reach out — and how simple it is to begin.

Who Is Covered

Your EAP is available to you and the members of your household, including dependents, at no cost.

When to Reach Out

- Feeling stressed, anxious, or overwhelmed
- Relationship, family, or parenting concerns
- Grief, loss, or a major life change
- Substance use concerns for you or a loved one
- A crisis or urgent emotional situation — support is available immediately

What Happens When You Call

- A caring specialist listens and helps you understand your options.
- If counseling is the right fit, you can schedule a session by phone, video, or in-person.
- You can choose a counselor and a time that works for you.
- In a crisis, you are connected to 24/7 support right away.

Your Privacy

Every conversation is confidential and is never shared with your employer without your written permission.

Ready to begin? Call 1-800-555-0199 any time, or ask Hannah to text or email these resources to you.